

Press Release

Mastek gains UiPath Services Network certification

Reading – July 08, 2020 – As one of three UiPath partners in the UK and Ireland to achieve the UiPath Service Network (USN) certification, Mastek secures its position as a leading provider of Intelligent Automation solutions. The UiPath Services Network was launched by UiPath, the leading enterprise Robotic Process Automation (RPA) software company, in May to recognize an elite network of service delivery partners accredited with advanced delivery skills.

The certification is given to organisations that act as an extended arm of UiPath and are able to deliver state of the art RPA implementations in a sustainable manner, with the same level of professionalism and quality as the UiPath Professional Services team.

The benefits for Mastek's customers are:

- A world leading automation partner;
- Seamless access to UiPath professional services;
- High implementation success rates; and
- Ease of Scale-up and cost reduction.

Mastek also receives additional levels of support to drive customer success including:

- A higher level of support and training pathways;
- Partner Hotline Support before and after the implementation; and
- Assurance services and implementation support.

With RPA becoming increasingly key for accelerating digital advantage, it is essential that implementation partners can offer market-leading support to organizations in their hyperautomation journeys.

John Owen, Mastek CEO said, "Mastek is extremely proud of our exceptional team who are working tirelessly to deliver outcome based solutions that make a real difference for our clients. In this spirit, we're currently working with UiPath to launch an acceleration programme to give new direction to organisations' existing strategic RPA initiatives."

Andrew McBean, Vice President, Alliances said "This distinction from UiPath is built around our vision to give our clients access to the highest quality RPA resources, mentorship and service assurance."

Christ Grant, Director UKI Alliances and Partnering said: "Both UiPath and our partners have in common the drive to create value for our joint customers. We rely on Mastek for their quality of

About Mastek

Mastek is a global technology services company offering digital services and software for large public and private enterprises in the UK, US, Middle East, Asia-Pacific and India. We support organisations across a range of regulated industries including public sector, finance, corporate and retail by providing the platform and support needed to thrive in an era of digital transformation. Our services are built around unlocking the power of your data, developing and modernising your applications, accelerating your digital advantage and delivering measurable value with Oracle Cloud solutions.

Mastek Consulting is the consultancy arm of Mastek, offering architecture delivery leadership and Agile transformation. Our services include architecture and strategy, Agile delivery coaching and transformation including DevOps, business analysis and user experience and research and innovation, where we explore both executing innovation and how to add innovation to your business.

Mastek's talented people are solving problems for our clients on day-to-day and critical projects and they're making a real difference.

Mastek™

